PGA Golf Professional

Chris Cherok

Originally from Florida, I discovered my passion for golf in college under the guidance of the late Jamie Jackson. Jamie was an extraordinary coach who cared deeply about his students and their growth. His mentor, Mike Bender, along with other nationally renowned teachers like Mike Adams, Jim McLean, Brian Mogg, Bradley Hughes, and Jeff Leishman have all shaped my approach over more than 20 years of teaching.

Drawing from their influence, I've developed a philosophy that blends technical precision with player ownership. My goal is to help students improve their swing, but to also truly understand it so they can self-diagnose and adapt on the range or the course. I work with golfers of all levels. I am fully invested in each player I teach and committed to your progress from the very first lesson.

If you are a beginner looking to learn the basics or a seasoned golfer looking to improve your game, I am ready to take that journey with you!
